

The Kellogg Institute Alumni Review

April 21, 2020

Hi all,

I know we are in uncharted waters during the Covid-19 pandemic. I wanted to take a moment to write to let you all know that the Kellogg Institute is still here. If the National Center for Developmental Education can help you to transition your classes to online for summer or fall, please e-mail us.

The 40th edition of The Kellogg Institute will be held on campus at ASU July 11-24, 2020. Spots are still available. The Institute fee is $1350.00 and room and board is $900.00.

The Kellogg Institute LITE program will also bring the Kellogg Institute experience online this summer. Participants can purchase four MP4 seminar recordings for use on their home campus the following year for professional development activities. Each participant will also have the opportunity to join in on two online discussions-one with the NCDE Director and one and with the Kellogg Institute Director.

The Kellogg Institute LITE menu offers seminar recordings on Co-Requisite Course Designs, Working with Diverse Student Populations, Universal and Instructional Design, Online Student Support Services, and Open Educational Resources (OER). The institute fee for the KI LITE program is $600.00.

Kellogg Institute Alumni who are doing great things-

Dr. Carol Mueller is the Treasurer of the National Organization for Student Success (NOSS).

Denise Lujan is the President of NOSS.

Dan Nelson is the Vice President of NOSS.

Glynis Mullins is the Secretary of NOSS.

If you know another KI alum who needs to be added to this list, e-mail their information to anthonyaw@appstate.edu

Stay Safe!!!
